EDALE is a parish, formed in 1863 from Castleton parish, and has a station on the Dore and Chinley section of the Midland railway (opened in 1894), 168 miles from London, 3 north-west from Castleton, 15 north-west from Bakewell and 5½ north-east from Chapel-en-le-Frith, in the High Peak division of the county, High Peak hundred, petty sessional division, union and county court district of Chapel-en-le-Frith, rural deanery of Eyam, archdeaconry of Derby and diocese of Southwell. The river Noe runs through the valley. Holy Trinity church, erected in 1812, was demolished by faculty from the Bishop of Southwell, on March, 1885, and the materials incorporated in a new church on a fresh site about 100 yards distant, the site of the old church being added to the burial ground. The new church of the same name, erected in 1885-6, at a total cost of £2,950, and consecrated by the Bishop of Southwell on June 23rd, 1886, is a building in the Early Decorated style, from designs by Mr. William Dawes, architect, of Manchester, and consists of chancel, nave, vestry, organ chamber, south porch and a tower at the north-east angle with octagonal broach spire, completed in 1889, and reaching a height of 89 feet: in the chancel is a picture removed from the old church, representing the "Adoration of the Magi;" and a tablet memorial east window, placed in 1896, to the late Rev. John Champion, for 30 years vicar of Edale; the stone pulpit and chancel screen were the gift of Mrs. W. N. Champion, and the font, a memorial to the late Rev. George Spurrier, a former incumbent, was presented by his relatives. The register, in part a copy of the original, dates from the year 1633. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value £200, including 100 acres of glebe, with residence, in the gift of certain landowners of the parish, and held since 1895 by the Rev. Geo. Fredc. Reynolds M.A. of St. John's College, Cambridge. Here is a Wesleyan chapel, built in 1847. There are various charities for the poor. Here is a large cotton mill, and in the neighbourhood are several natural curiosities, including limestone caves at Castleton, and a Roman encampment on the top of Mam Tor, while the highest hills in Derbyshire flank the northern side. The principal landowners are the Duke of Devonshire K.G. Lord Scarsdale, George William Shirt esq. and William N. L. Champion esq. of Riddlesworth Hall, Norfolk. The soil varies considerably in quality, but is chiefly cold and heavy, on Yoredale shale, and is mostly devoted to hay and pasture. The area is 7,020 acres of land and 23 of water; rateable value, £5,405; the population in 1891 was 955.

Grindsbrook is about 200 yards from the station, and the church is situated here; Upper Booth, 2 miles west; Barber Booth, 2 miles west-by-south; Nether or Lady Booth, 1½ miles east; Ollerbrook Booth, ½ mile north, are hamlets
